

New minister for St. Andrews

The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Newmarket, are preparing to welcome their new minister who begins his term here on Sunday, August 4.

Rev. D. McGillivray, B.A., B.D., is a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, and of Knox College, Toronto. He has been minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, since 1971, and last spring was called to St. Andrew's, Newmarket.

His wife, Mrs. Kathleen McGillivray, is a school teacher and a talented musician. They have a nine-year-old son, Peter, and a daughter, Margaret, who is seven years old.

The McGillivray family will be moving into the manse, 765 Sutherland, very shortly, and will be welcomed at a luncheon following the morning worship service next Sunday.
