

God Cares for You

When I have time

When I have time there's a poem to be written, a song to be sung.

When I have time there's a child to be led, a prayer to be said.

When I have time I'll tell a story, visit a friend

Alas! time is gone
The poem's unwritten, the song's unsung.

The child is a man grown up unled, the prayer - ah the prayer it went un-said, the story is ended the friend is dead.

For what momentous affair did I neglect a poem, a song, a child, a prayer? Was it a dirty dish? An unmade bed?

God cares for you

When you've tried and you've failed in the struggle and you find that it's hard to believe and you're tempted to doubt

"God's own promise, Ask and ye shall surely receive"
Have faith - and remember the sparrows God sees them and cares for them, too

And you're far more precious than sparrows,
So you know God is caring for you.

Reputation is what men and women think of us; Character is what God and the angels know of us.

Home

Feb, 5, 1935

Fayza