

Strongfield 4H Baby Beef Achievement Day

The Strongfield 4H Baby Beef Club held a successful achievement day on May 31st at the farm of Mons Langager. The club members and parents gathered for a picnic dinner.

Fifteen calves were entered in the competitions. Each member had a plaque made in a four leaf clover with their names and the calves names painted on. These were hung over the stalls which their calves were in, making an added attraction in the barn. The Birch boys were awarded a prize for the pattern of the plaques.

The results in the judging were as follows:

Grand champion, Allyn Langager; reserve, Norman Langager; 3, Geraldine Carlson.

Showmanship: 1, Kathleen Tastad; 2, Geraldine Carlson; 3, George Follick.

Grooming: 1, Geraldine Carlson; 2, George Follick; 3, Donald Follick.

Judging: 1, Kathleen Tastad; 2, Elaine Carlson; 3, Ethia Bristow.

True and false: 1, Byron Birch; 2, Karen Langager; 3, Lola Follick and Norman Langager.

Best home grown calf: 1, Allyn Langager; 2, Geraldine Carlson.

Best heifer: 1, Norman Langager; 2, George Follick.

There was a tie in points for the Grand Aggregate: Geraldine Carlson and Kathleen Tastad. Instead of a written test, each agreed on a draw, Kathleen being the winner. J. McNabb, Bank of Commerce manager, presented each with a pen and pencil set.

In judging each event, the judge Viv Krassman first spoke personally to each member, then to the parents and friends as to why he had placed each calf in its position.

A large crowd took advantage of the beautiful weather to support the club and the booth on the grounds was kept busy serving refreshments. Bob Norrish was kept busy taking moving pictures during the afternoon.

As an added attraction for the day, Evan Adams showed his Brahma bull and his Welsh pony and colt. The winner of the "Guess the Brahmas weight" was Ken Follick, it's weight being 480 lbs. The lucky ticket drawn for the electric fry-pan was Lois Carlson.

The club members presented their leader, Robert Bristow, with a pen and pencil set for his conscientious and efficient work to make the club a success.
